MR. NORMAN BUSSELL

To Mr. Norman Bussell, who has done so much for so many people, we wish to dedicate the 1955 Kodak.

His many admirers are attracted to him not only because of the classes he instructs, but also by his sincere understanding and consistent cooperation. He is highly respected by all because of his inspiring leadership, faithful guidance, and unfailing kindness. He is often termed as being "one of the students"; nevertheless, he holds their respect.

Mr. Bussell's personality is one which we would like to see reflected in the future of many students.

This is our way of saying "thanks" Mr. Bussell, for all the help and encouragement you have given to us.

Best of luck in

Administration and Faculty

Many carefully planned hours have been put forth by our teachers in order that we can obtain the education necessary to face the adversities of life. The ultimate success of our classroom teacher is determined after a number of years when the lessons he taught are applied by us, his students. Thus, while the teacher lives in the present, he must think in terms of the future that he may develop in his students the necessary traits for achieving success.

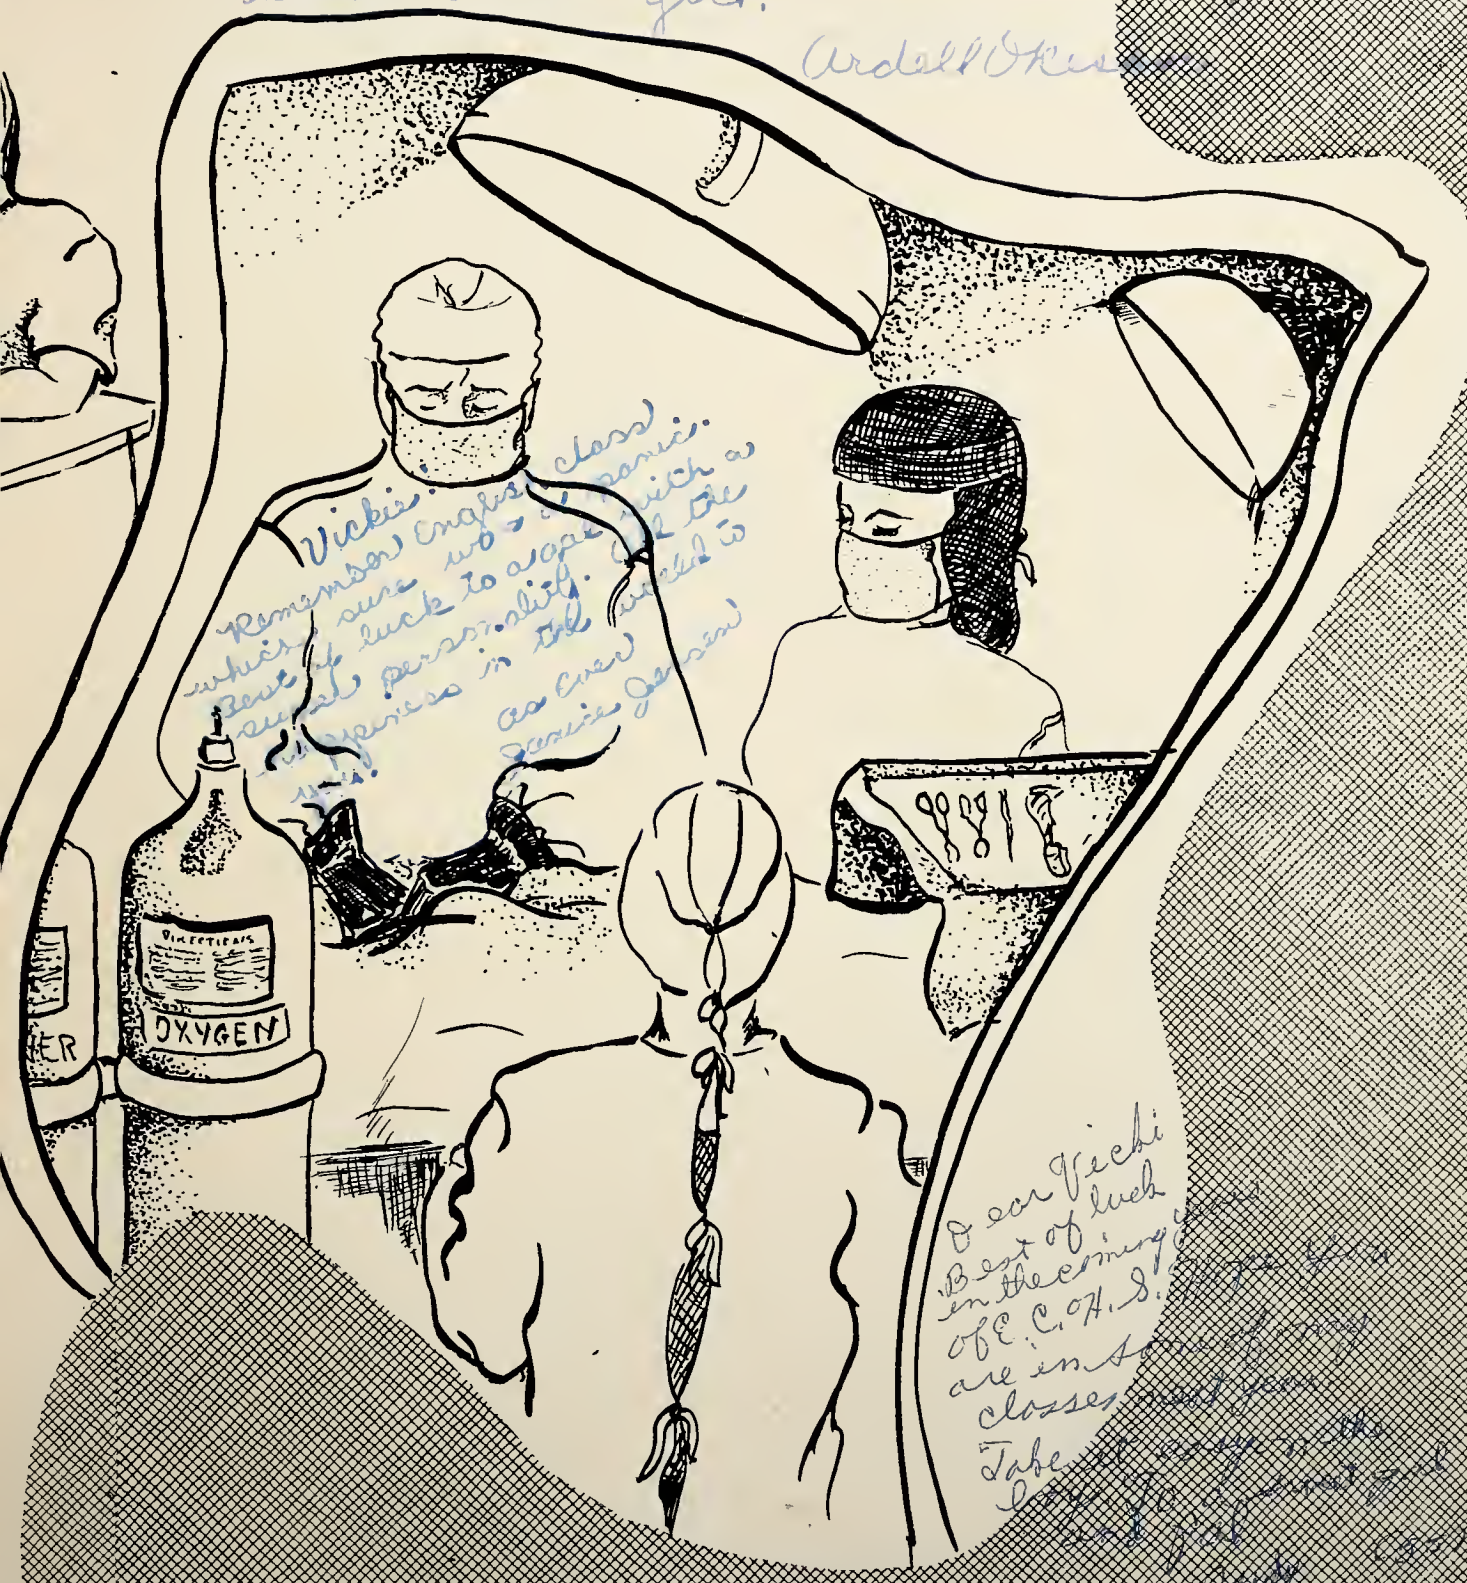

Debbie
 I don't know

ADMINISTRATION

Definitely influencing the present and the future lives of all who pass through ECHS are the Board of Education, Student Council, Superintendent of Schools DeLong and Principal Barnes. These four compose the administrative group that formulates and implements the policies of ECHS.

Ever-present, yet staying in the background, the school board plays a vital part in furthering the students' education. This year, the members spent many hours in making preparations for the new school, as well as planning for this year's activities.

The Student Council represents the student body and acts as an advisory board to the administration. The council is making plans for a foreign student to enroll here next fall. It also chose the assemblies, put out a suggestion box, appeared before the PTA, and on local television. Four members, Mary Keiner, Diane Streiby, Brad Eastenson, and John Barstad, attended the state convention in Madison last fall.

Through experience and understanding, Superintendent DeLong skillfully guides the members of ECHS. Mr. Barnes, as principal, tactfully carries out his job as head counselor and disciplinarian of the school. Together they bring about the serene and peaceful atmosphere which dominates our building.

CO-ORDINATION

A long line of absentees forms every morning in the co-ordination office to receive admittance slips and to give a reasonable excuse for their absence.

Miss Kunz, co-ordination secretary, keeps the attendance records of all students and assists Mr. Thorngate with his work.

Mr. Thorngate, dean of boys, and Mrs. Coffman, dean of girls, help to untangle those problems which often involve and complicate the lives of students.

Mr. Thorngate is also an efficient and helpful vice-principal. In case of Mr. Barnes' absence, Mr. Thorngate takes over in administering the school.

Mr. Matz, Mr. Novak, and Mr. Burmiester are proving their skill in the culinary art while Mr. Kunz smiles his approval.

The shape of the future is so often determined by the ones with whom we come in contact; among those most influential are the teachers who extend the best of their knowledge to us. Each of the many teachers aids immeasurably in forming the minds and characters of America's future citizens.

In one of these divisions, the mathematics teacher is instrumental in shaping the careers of the professional man and woman of tomorrow. As he teaches mathematics, the instructor sees not just a class of young students struggling to solve the square root of Pi, but sees the inventor of the rocket to the moon, the solver of the atomic engine. By giving unselfishly of his time and learning, each individual student receives the benefit of the good education that now means so much to every young man and woman.

A hate for disease and waste is also aroused here, and the teacher guides their urge to do something about it, an urge which later shows itself as the students of today search for cures and better methods of health for everyone.

In the special "crystal ball" that belongs to the home economics teaching staff, hundreds of capable homemakers take their places as the wives and mothers of the future. By gladly sharing those important skills of cooking and sewing, each of these teachers may have the satisfaction of knowing that the homes and families of tomorrow will be more efficiently and happily man-aged.

Those who are given the opportunity to brighten the school with music soon find themselves bringing its joy to the world, due to the careful instruction given to them in choir, band and orchestra work.

As he watches a student striving to learn the relationship between a noun and a verb, or trying to memorize the generals and battles of the Civil War, the teacher of the humanities may think of the young Emerson or Sandburg in similar circumstances. Their realms of past and present genius are enlarged as he shares his diverse knowledge with the students.

The young architect and engineer of the future labors over his drawing board, as with kindly and skillful instruction, his teacher guides the latent talent which needs only careful nurturing.

Basis of Better English

"Term papers and grammar that's what so many students think of when they hear the word English."

The English department, headed by Mr. Hovey is the largest department in the school and includes the language section, radio, TV, speech, debate, dramatics, journalism, News, and Kodak. English is the basic subject and is needed for every subject, every job, and in plain everyday life.

When walking past an English room speeches from "Caesar" and poems can be heard being recited. Other activities are learning about the parts of speech, reading stories out of the literature books, reading library books, giving book reports and giving speeches.

Jim Hanson, Roger Kragness and Carol Rude participate in a radio skit in one of Miss King's junior English classes.

The Appian Way is pointed out to Miss Berg by Steve Kelly.

"It's Greek to me" are the usual words of a beginning language student as he gazes at his newly acquired language book. However, slowly but surely, the students learn the charm and romance of the language and the customs of Spain, Germany, France, and ancient Rome.

Gay Spanish records and authentic colorful displays add life to Mr. Rosene's Spanish and German classes. Bullfighting equipment and a quaint replica of a German village are samples of the articles used to make Spanish and German more interesting.

Posters and scrolls depicting ancient Roman history adorn the bulletin boards in the Latin room showing that Miss Berg has imparted some of her bubbling enthusiasm to many students.

Mrs. Chatterson employs various intriguing ways to present French to her students. One day a week the advanced French class speaks only French. Anyone speaking English in class that day forfeits a penny a word.

Dramatics

Adviser Mr. Heise coaches Harold Lindeke and Dixie Schleusner in their lines for the Senior Class Play.

The Dramatics Department has again uncovered a wealth of talent at ECHS while producing four successful plays this year.

Students play an important part in producing, for they not only do all the acting, but also comprise the various committees such as props, costumes, and make-up. A student director is also chosen to aid Mr. Hiese. The Dramatics Department works in close connection with the Stage Crew and the Art Department, who design and construct all the scenery.

Venturing into the realm of musical comedy, the choir and Dramatics Department combined efforts and obtained excellent results in producing the hit "Adam Loves Eve." The Senior Class Play, "One Sunday Afternoon," joined drama and comedy with sparkling results.

"Ladies in Retirement," an intriguing mystery, was a successful attempt to break away from the tradition of producing only comedies. Concluding the season was a comedy entitled "On Borrowed Time," another excellent display of ECHS talent.

Between scenes of the senior class play Bill Stai, Dave Hoehn, Tom Norager and Russell Champion entertain the audience.

Harold Lindeke, Lawrence Bennett, Betsy Richards, Dixie Schleusner and Damon Bowlin star in the senior class play, "One Sunday Afternoon."

Debaters Share Championship

First Debate Team: Rick Chilgren, Maxine Brandt, Leslie Wiberg, Judy Clark, Lonny Winrich, Coach Barry Robinson.

Rick Chilgren speaks on behalf of his colleague, Leslie Wiberg as Lonnie Winrich and Maxine Brandt, the negative team, listen for weak points in his argument.

The Eau Claire debaters closed out a highly successful season by winning a share in the State Championship crown. In the debate tournament held at Madison February 25, 26, the Old Abe debaters emerged with a 7-1 record, tying with West Bend and Wausau for the Championship. Again in this meet the negative team of Maxine Brandt and Lorrie Winrich went undefeated, ending the season with a perfect record.

In addition to their other honors, the debate team won permanent possession of the H. W. Mathison Memorial Trophy, having for the third time scored the highest number of points among teams from the Northern District.

The debaters coached by Mr. Robinson had as their topic "Resolved: That the United States adopt a policy of free trade among the nations friendly to the United States."

The beginning members of the debate class engaged in several practice meets, and learned the basic methods of research and organization on the same question in preparation for advancement next year.

The debaters travelled throughout this area during the year, attending meets in such places as Gustavus Adolphus College and La Crosse. They captured first in the La Crosse Tournament and at Eau Claire College.

Devoted to the improvement of speech activities, The National Forensic League Chapter at Eau Claire is one of the most active in the state. The NFL embraces all phases of speech and speaking, such as memorized declamations and debate participation.

Each year the underclassmen have the seniors as their guests at a banquet in the spring.

Last year for the second time Eau Claire was presented the Outstanding Chapter Award. It is one of the early members of the NFL and has maintained its membership in the League which is restricted to 600 schools throughout the United States.

Pins are awarded to members on the basis of their activity in the speech field.

Mr. Robinson is adviser of local chapter, and a member of the executive board.

With the aid of Journalism

Jeri Moehle, Editor of Publicity Bureau, hands the story to Doug Stetzer to take to the Eau Claire Leader. Jean MacLaughlin types up another story and Bonnie Vaughan observes.

The wide field of writing is introduced to students each year in Journalism I. It prepares the student for further work in either News or Kodak.

Mr. Higgins is advisor to the News classes and Journalism I. Through his direction, students learn how to write news and feature stories, columns, sports articles, editorials, and copy for the Kodak.

During the second semester, after a little experience in writing, the journalism students form a publicity bureau, through which news of high school happenings are publicized in the Eau Claire Leader and Telegram.

In February, just before Kodak deadline, a few students are chosen from the journalism class to write copy for the yearbook. This also gives them additional experience in writing and composing.

and the Art of Printing

The roar of the flat bed press running off another issue of The News, the syncopated rhythm of cylinder presses and the distant clang of the linotype machine are only a few of the strange sounds you would hear, should you enter Room 109, the high school print shop.

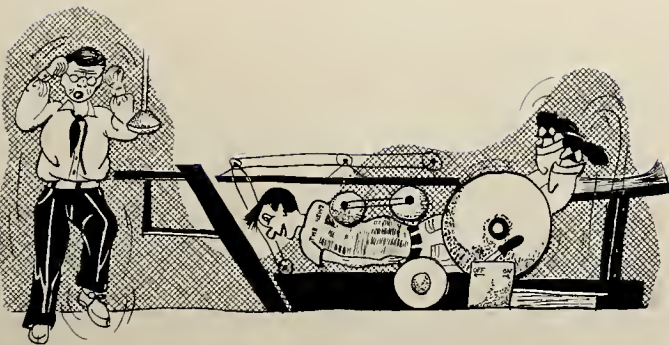

Mr. Wisbroecker has a big job on his hands in supervising this class. Teaching five classes a day leaves him only one hour of school time to complete the many projects he undertakes. These projects play an important part in the every day life of students and teachers.

It is the product of the print shop which continually echoes in our minds the news of coming events. Posters telling of coming plays, signs urging you to attend the games, programs you receive at plays and games, The News, and the library slips you receive in homeroom make up a minority of the tasks performed by these busy classes.

Jerry Gunderson works industriously at the linotype as he sets up copy for the "News."

Roger Olson, under the supervision of Mr. Wisbrocker, makes basketball schedules on the hand-fed press.

Editor Arletta Gylland and Adviser Mr. Higgins check copy for the "News."

The News room is a busy place! Shouts of "Is there a headline for the debate story?" or "Who knows how to type?" can be heard echoing from Room 213 almost any day during 5th or 6th periods. This is where preparations begin for the next issue of The News, the student-produced newspaper of Eau Claire High School, distributed bi-weekly 16 times a year.

The staff's job begins when assignments are made. Stories are written, rewritten, and usually written again before they are OK'd and sent to the linotype room of the high school print shop. Pictures are taken and the selections made of those to be used.

A plan of each page, called a "dummy" is drawn up and sent to the printers. From this general plan the stories and headlines are arranged.

While the printing staff is composing the pages, the editorial staff is busy writing news stories, and the process resumes its cycle. Another issue of The News is on its way.

Advisor Miss Hartung and Editor Lorelie Korn approve pictures to be used in the 1955 "Kodak."

This $5,000 book which you hold in your hands was the result of strenuous planning and meticulous attention to detail on the part of the Kodak Staff. Supervised by Miss Hartung and led by Editor Lorelie Korn the staff began early last fall examining all possibilities in order to evolve a fitting theme. It was not until March 1 that the tempo of their work lessened, as it was on that date that with a gusty sigh the staff carefully wrapped up the last pages of the Kodak and mailed them to the printer, Walsworth Brothers, Marceline, Mo.

However even then their work was not completed, for they immediately began work on the supplement, in order that all activities and sports of the school year would be covered.

Judy Roe and Thelma Ruff appear to enjoy filing the negatives of underclassmen.

Contact printing is demonstrated by Carol Jahr and Arlene Cater.

Pictures are prepared for drying by Darrell Hoepfner and Robert Woodley.

and Fine Arts Talent

Enameling, one of the recent projects of the art classes, is done by Jim Stocks, Eugene Johnston and Kathleen Knock.

Larry LaPage and Eugene Johnston prepare the manikin used in the musical comedy, "Adam Loves Eve."

Using branches, plaster of Paris and reindeer, Judy Wingat, Bönita Pahl and Darlene Bryce bring a more festive atmosphere to their homes during the holidays.

The artistically inclined students who like to work with their hands find a wide range of opportunity awaiting them in the art classes supervised by Mr. Fish.

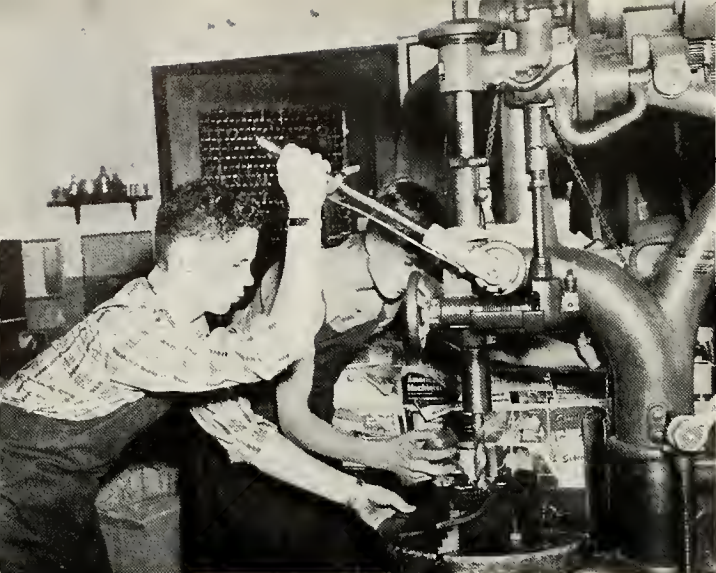

Among the projects that these students have accomplished during the school year are: clay-modeling, artwork and scenery for numerous plays, landscape paintings, soap-carving, and counter-changing. Preceding the Christmas holidays, attractive centerpieces were made from twigs and plaster of Paris.

Those bright, unusual cuff links and earrings which some of the faculty and students have sported are also a product of the art classes. They are enameled jewelry, just introduced this year, and produced in a kiln. Here they are baked, to reduce the powder a fine glossy sheen, in a multitude of colors.

Industrial Arts

Jerry and Jim Olson learn the proper care of machines as part of their shop work.

Learning to work with your hands is a most useful part of your education.

John Giebel, Rex Bailey and Walter Flyte wind a coil for a transformer in their electricity class.

David King demonstrates his skill on a drill press to Mr. Burmeister in advanced woodwork.

The industrial arts department offers courses for those students who wish to make things either as vocational or hobby training.

Boys get their first acquaintance with shop their freshman year, when they get nine weeks courses in electricity, printing, drafting and machine shop.

In advanced courses the student may take further work in any of these fields. Machine shop classes teach how to work metals, with the students commencing with simple screw drivers and advancing to the use of the milling and lathing machines.

Develop Skills

Ray Kruschke, Harold Walters and Richard Burce apply their skill at fitting, buffing and sanding to complete their projects in woodwork.

No rest for Doug LaPoint until his lounge chair is completed.

Gary Olson and Bill Culver learn to make blueprints as a part of their work in the drafting class.

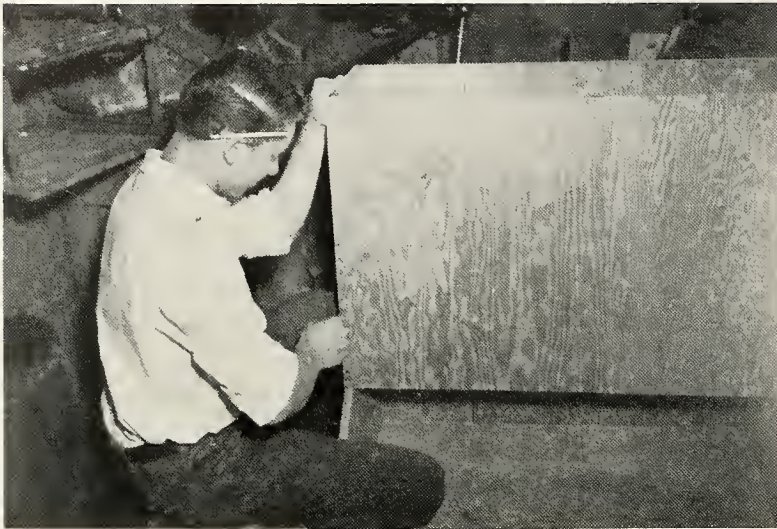

Electrical appliances, motors, generators and radios — all are studied and constructed in the electrical courses. In addition, much of the maintenance of the speaker and telephone systems within the school is done by this class.

Drafting, a combination of architectural and mechanical drafting, includes orthographic, pictorial and free hand drawing.

Woodwork students work on constructing individual projects ranging in complexity from simple bread boards to laminated desks and strip cedar runabouts.

Agriculture Teaches the

Raymond Taylor builds a feed bin in the shop.

Tom Hass and Herman Nelson listen while Watford Sequin explains milk testing.

Statistics prove that farmers today are 40% more efficient than they were in earlier years, due to more scientific knowledge and modern methods of farming. To teach present day farmers how to be efficient in production and to keep pace with new developments in scientific agriculture is the purpose of the agriculture courses in high school. Learning to operate recent farm implements is a necessary phase of farming.

The Future Farmers of America, the agriculture club, is a program of application, of learning by doing; in the classroom, in the laboratory and on the farm. Throughout the year, each member is required to have a project, tending his own cattle, working his own fields, or keeping records of his own experiments on one phase of farm, for example a fertilization program or milk production improvement.

The FFA has a Father and Son banquet annually and also participates in various speech and farm contests throughout the year. They have their own basketball teams and hold games during noon hours.

By comparing the soil specimen with the chart Larry Peterson and Pat Coyle practice soil testing.

Mathematics is made practical for Roger Nelson and Sue McMahon as they learn to make income tax returns from books and wall charts.

"Engineers, teachers, scientists, and everyday citizens. Where would they be without mathematics?" In high school a variety of math is offered including general math, plain and solid geometry, advanced algebra, and trigonometry. These courses are offered for the benefit of those who wish to meet pre-induction requirements and prepare themselves for future work in engineering or related branches. Everyday, throughout life, people are faced with some kind of mathematical problem. Without the teaching of math in school years, these problems could never be solved.

Advanced mathematics students have formed a club where they investigate and learn to operate more complicated types of slide rules. They solve various mathematical problems and puzzles, and also learn the basis of navigation through the study of the sextant. The club is sponsored by Miss Otteson and it functions as a part of the advanced math class.

Dave Anderson demonstrates tetrahedrons on an icosahedron to the Mathematics Club. (You can't hardly get them no more.)

Mr. Ludvigson keeps the balloon aloft with an air hose to demonstrate Bernoulli's Principle to Rick Scott, Carol Schute and John Wensel.

Curiosity is behind all science, and what mind is more curious than that of a student. The physics, senior science, chemistry and biology classes try to satisfy the curiosity of the students by giving them the knowledge of the how and why of nature and its workings.

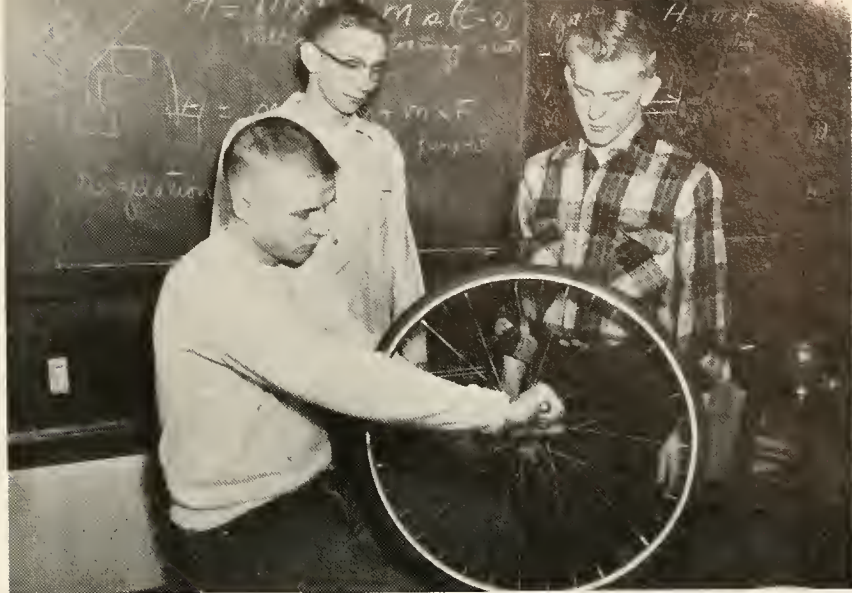

The biology students learn about everything from one of the smaller living things, the amoeba, to the anatomy of the human being. Physics classes study such subjects as motors, heat, sound and things in that field while in the chemistry classes, the students are introduced to the physical elements of chemicals. Senior science deals with all aspects of science.

Each student is given an equal chance to broaden his mental knowledge, and satisfy his curiosity in the field.

Our Physical World

Instructor, Mr. Torgerson, points out the identifying colors of various elements created by the spectroscope to Janice Russell, Hal Lindeke, Bruce Eastenson, Nancy Calkins and Rachel Slock.

Gloria Briggs, Leona Wilbur and Marlene Kuester work to increase their speed on the calculators.

Be Staffed by These

Marjorie Johnson, Myrna Lund and Roberta Actor exhibit great possibilities as future secretaries in the office practice room.

Mr. Tealy gives final instructions to Jon Wensel and Helen Noyes as they address envelopes for the Christmas seal campaign.

Those who are interested in a commercial career whether it be sales or stenography find ample opportunity for training awaiting them as they enroll in ECHS.

General business, the first key to the world of commerce introduces students to the fundamentals, featuring basic aspects of insurance, savings and home and business financing programs.

Typing is the next step in the schedule, and following this, courses in shorthand, business English, bookkeeping and office practice work train students in the skills and procedures to become successful.

This is not the end, however, for the Commercial Department operates a Job Placement Bureau which functions to see that those desiring jobs are given an opportunity to acquire them. Each year many students are employed in such industries throughout the town as the banks, retail stores and as clerical help in offices.

The proof is in wearing

Judy Steiner, Judy Dreke and Barbara Lokken combine talents to complete their spring wardrobes.

Di Ann Abart nears the completion of her first project of the year.

The way to a guy's heart is through his stomach, and the way to catch his eye is to be a unique dresser. To help girls get their start on this, a variety of home economics classes is offered each year. Recipes of all kinds are tried, with the results sampled. Proper methods of consumer shopping, table setting, and being a fine hostess are also being taught.

Articles of clothing are made, and displayed in dress reviews throughout the year. The first three years, girls follow a basic pattern but are allowed to make their own choice of material, while seniors have freedom to make any clothes. The use of the different sewing machine attachments are also taught to seniors, while sophomores do some work in crafts.

Also in Eating

Darlene Pederson puts the finishing touches on a cherry pie as she practiced to become a district winner.

Dipping caramelized apples is a pleasure for Loretta Samuelson and Janice and Janet Green, members of the advanced home economics class.

We Study World Problems

R. Ambli and H. Curtis examine the documents of Wisconsin very closely.

The social studies department has a big job on their hands, teaching all the different subjects that a citizen of tomorrow needs to know. The students start out studying the governmental systems of the city, county, state and country. Extensive attention is given to the officers of the city and their jobs. The students of today may be one of the future city officials of tomorrow and must be prepared for this.

In the history classes the students are taught the governments of long ago and the mistakes of these governments that were not well organized. The students are being taught more on how the governments function because these are the future voters of the United States and may be one of the future presidents. They are taught the grand traditions of the United States that they may properly appreciate the importance and value of the democratic system of living.

Inquisitive students prepare to venture through the Historymobile.

Marlin Rickey, Raymond Bortle and Tom Weber learn the first traffic rules on the magnetic board in Driver Education.

DRIVERS' TRAINING

ECHS sees to it that her students are carefully prepared as future motorists through the facilities of a fine driver-training course.

Mr. Adams gives two weeks of preliminary classroom instruction, stressing the rules and regulations. Then, under his skillful supervision, they at last get behind the wheel and are given a chance to drive. All the fundamentals of driving are included in the course, with weekly classroom meetings set aside from "driving days" to refresh the students' minds. By the time they graduate and receive their diplomas (licenses), they have become accomplished drivers, able to compete in any kind of traffic. McDonald Motors provides the dual-control car which the students use.

After weeks of classroom study, the future drivers of America put rules of safe driving into practice.

The Eau Claire High School Pep Band

The District Music Festivals, the pep assemblies, the basketball and football games, all are on the schedule of the first band. Hours of early morning practice for both the band and the director, Mr. Boyd, go into the perfection the band displays every year in their annual pop concerts, half time performances and parades.

The second band is the material from which the first band obtains its perfection. They, too, have early rehearsals for their public appearances.

The third band, which meets every third period, under the direction of Mr. Martin, is a combination of beginning players and those who were unable to pass the required units for admittance to second band.

First

Three main events highlighted the past year for the First Choir: their holiday Christmas Concert, the spring music festival, and the third annual operetta.

Forming the nucleus of the Yuletide program, the choir again ably portrayed the joyousness inherent to the Christmas season. The other choral groups and the First Orchestra rounded out the program which had for a thrilling climax Handel's "Halleluia Chorus" from The Messiah.

Continuing the outstanding tradition set up by their earlier productions of "Martha" and "Sweethearts" the First Choir sang and danced its way to success in the enchanting operetta, "Brigadoon." Rampant with colorful costumes and singable songs, this familiar musical presentation is a romantic fantasy set in Scotland, and concerns a picturesque disappearing village and the problems its inhabitants have.

Included in the cast of twenty, Roger Hotchkiss and Roger Albertson were chosen for the straight speaking parts of Jeff Douglas and Mr. Lundie respectively.

In the spring music festival, the First Choir was well represented. Schools from all over the Eau Claire district appeared to put in their bids for victory in the field of music.

The Second Choir also participated in the music contest, Christmas Concert, and operetta. This choir is made up of students who eventually hope to sing in the First Choir. In order to do this each must satisfactorily sing a solo and participate in the Spring Music Festival.

The Second Choir, consisting of 89 members, presented several lively songs at the Christmas Concert, including "Sing, Oh Sing, Ye Blessed Morn", "Good King Wenceslas" and "When Christmas Morn is Dawning", with a solo by Catherine Lee.

The Freshman Girls' Glee Club, with a membership of 66 girls, sang, "What Can This Mean," "Rocking," and "I Saw Three Ships" in the Christmas Concert. Although they are directed by Mr. Schafer, they are not connected with the choir. They are a group of girls who love to sing but don't have room on their schedule for choir.

The first orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Merrill, meets every day during fifth period and in sectionals every morning at 7:30. They make four appearances during the year; the first with the choir at the annual Christmas concerts, the second at the District Music Festival, the third as accompanists to the operetta and the last in their solo concert in the spring.

The second orchestra, also under the direction of Mr. Merrill, meets during the sixth period. The class is composed of the beginning students and those who were not able to pass the required units to make the senior group.

French Horns: H. Weggen, R. Olson. Cellos: B. Zielsdorf, G. Julson, S. Quella, N. Wahl. Tuba: C. Manz. Trombone: M. Scott, Cornets: W. Stai, J. Marcus. Bases: H. Henry, D. McFarlane, A. Mai, C. Barney.

Music Appreciation

The basis of musical chords are puzzled over by Russell Champion and Mary Westphal.

Everything from Strauss to Stan Kenton's modern jazz comes within the range of the music appreciation students who explore the musical world under the direction of Mr. Schafer, instructor.

Offered especially for juniors and seniors, music appreciation is a non-technical course in preparation for more advanced courses of college music. This type of class, unique to Wisconsin in that it provides such a varied background in music, meets daily, offering one credit for a year's study.

Theory and fundamentals, musical history, and the art of listening to and appreciating good music are the three phases emphasized in this course. Ear-training, sight-singing and the study of harmony, note values and chord development are important to every individual student.

The lives and music of both early and contemporary composers lend an added flavor to this absorbing class as their influence links the romantic past with the present through their beautiful works.

Mr. Schafer aids his students in the study of music fundamentals and composition.

Pow Wow Opens Social Season

ECHS Students compensated for a disappointing football season by making the annual Pigskin Pow Wow weekend, November 4-6 most lavish. The traditional pep assembly, Thursday night featured Seba, Mr. Anderson's secret weapon, and was followed by a rousing snake dance to Boyd Park, where a huge bonfire blazed against the sky.

The climax to the festive weekend came with the big Saturday night homecoming dance, honoring the players and their dates. Led by King Roger "Whitey" Johnson and Queen Sally Krause, royalty, they paraded through a huge helmet arch and under a white crepe paper canopy clustered with multi-colored balloons.

Serve the School...

The Girl Reserve Choir sings in the halls during the festive Christmas season.

Queen Karen Olson and King Mary Jo Gavin are crowned at the annual Girl Reserve Prom.

The Girl Reserves, one of the largest organizations of ECHS, is outstanding for its service to the school.

Freshman Day, sponsored by the senior Girl Reserves, begins a year of whirlwind activities for its membership of junior and senior girls . . . After the first few weeks of school is that never forgotten Initiation Day.

The traditional night loved by all the girls is the Girl Reserves' Prom, a night strictly for the girls. Music, decorations, and prom royalty combine for a night of gayety and laughter.

Other highlights of the year are ushering for the male chorus, senior GR Christmas caroling, and their annual Mother-Daughter Banquet. It is under the supervision of Miss Otterson.

Serve the Stage...

Students with a common background and interest in drama form the Footlighters Club, which meets to discuss various aspects concerning drama. Although these discussions greatly benefit the 150 members, the club's major function is to aid in staging and producing school productions. Students relieve the harried director of major duties such as props and costumes so that he can concentrate on the dramatic interpretation of the play.

While some Footlighters help on committees, others act, taking the leads in most of the plays. Pins and letters are awarded to members on the basis of their activities.

Each year the club journeys to Minneapolis and St. Paul to see a stage production. Last year, they saw "Stalag 17".

Stump Club

The Stump Club, under the guidance of Mr. Lystrup has still kept their traditional "Santa Claus Gallop," started in 1905. Every year the Stump meets their rival club, the Lyceum, in a football game. The Stump Club also contributed money to the organ fund this year. The officers of the club are Jack Rada, pres.; Dick Stai, vice-pres.; Bob Engelbretson, sec.; and Bob Barneson, treas.

Lyceum Club

The Lyceum provides many thrills at one of the biggest social events of the year, "The Turkey Trot." This winter the Lyceum enlarged its activities by collecting money at basketball games for the Olympic Fund. Their advisor, Mr. Anderson, is ably assisted by the officers of the club, Harold Lindeke, pres.; Mike Starks, vice-pres.; and Erv Seems, sec.-treas.

MIKE AND PLATTER

Members of the Radio Speech classes who wish to further their radio experience participate in the Mike and Platter Club under the direction of Mr. Hovey and Mr. Amadio, talented radio instructors.

The club carries out its activities through the dramatization of special plays and events.

In former years the club has presented many successful productions. Since the class and the club work hand in hand, this gives the students an opportunity to earn pins and other awards given on the basis of point credits.

The Mike and Platter has helped students gain experience in radio and it forms a reserve of ideas and talents which may be drawn on for productions.

Members went on trips through Sacred Heart Hospital and Luther Hospital to see how a hospital functions. They had a student nurse and specialists talk to them on the profession. The senior members were given a future nurses pin.

School Dances Prove Popular

Sox Hop first place winners are Carole Jahr, Judy Foster, Janet Lord and Mary Buntrock.

Dick Lorentz and Hal Lindeke present a duck to the lucky winner, Sue Quella, at the annual Turkey Trot.

The Stump Club's Santa Claus Gallop attracts a large crowd.

Mary Jo Gavin is crowned Queen of Love and Beauty at the Valentine dance.

Bonnie Casper and two companion cheerleaders find their work amusing as they decorate for their "African Mambo" dance.

Crew Creates Sets

After each play the stage crew members are still on the job taking down the sets and restoring the stage to order.

Unsung heroes of every play from "One Sunday Afternoon" to "On Borrowed Time" are the members of the stage crew, under the supervision of Mr. Heise, overseer.

By Herculean efforts, these intrepid workers wrest order out of chaos, and build beauty out of rope and pine, paint and linen. They think nothing of risking life and limb on the "catwalk" above the stage.

That beautiful lighting and scenery in each play didn't just spring full-blown into existence; the scenery was contrived at the expense of painted pants, and hammer-smashed thumbs of the crew, and the exotic lighting effects were caused by Ed Whitney, the "mad scientist".

Upstairs in the loft is a tangle of ropes, the connecting links between loft-man and curtains. When a certain curtain should fall, Mr. Heise merely signals the loft-man, who calmly takes the signal—and goes crazy trying to obey.

The stage crew members combine their talents to make the many different scenes needed for plays during the year.

Edna Knudtson and Betty Moss, of the Library council, stack books.

A good book, and a quiet hour mean perfect relaxation for students.

The material for such a project can be found in the library, supervised by Miss Pederson, head librarian of ECHS. Mrs. Thompson assistant librarian and Miss Pederson are always on hand to aid students in finding any books they need, whether for an assignment in a class or for recreation.

With a total circulation of 62,376, there is an average of 32 books read per pupil. $1.22 was spent per pupil on library supplies last year. Of the 9584 books in the collection there are 2,918 fiction, 6,666 non-fiction, 43 different kinds of magazines and 5 newspapers.

9500 Books to Choose From ## and Service

Ever wondered how those thousands of books that students bring into the library each day get back onto their shelves in the right order? It is an enormous job, and it is one of the duties of the Library Council.

The other duties of these 21 girls take up most of their time while they are in the library. They check out books, magazines and reference material, and help design and set up the attractive displays. They prepare books, newspapers and magazines for filing, which involves a lot of work, since each magazine must be pasted, and put in the correct chronological order.

The girls also spend many hours repairing the damaged books that are returned to the library. Collecting fines is another function of the Library Council. They are supervised by Miss Pedersen, Head Librarian.

Janet Green checks out magazines to Beverly Seeley and Joan Gosney.

Janet Green, Edna Knudtson and Betty Moss, members of the Library Council, keep the books in good shape for distribution.

A quiet room remote from the hub-bub of school activity, but one vastly important in the management of school affairs—these words aptly describe the Booster Office. All money earned or spent by the school organization, excluding funds allocated by the Board of Education, is handled here.

Known for their reliability and skill in money matters, the 13 members of the Booster Staff spend one hour each day gaining valuable experience in the service of the school.

Booster Staff members handle money from all organizations and school activities such as the hot lunch program, book-rent, athletic money and money earned at school dances and performances.

The money turned in to Mr. Herried, supervisor of the Booster Office is deposited in the bank after each day of service.

Among the other duties of the Booster Staff are issuing the Booster cards and student lockers.

Carol Plummer makes a hurried purchase between classes from school store clerks, Shirley Isaacson and Lois Stever.

Pencils, paper, rulers and all the other small items of equipment required by students in their classwork can be purchased from the student personnel who operate the school store.

This model store which is operated on the same basis as a big commercial store, is located on the third floor of the school. The business is supervised by Miss Forsjord and students work in the store during study halls or free periods. Profits from the sales made, go to buying extra material for the commercial department.

Through the management of this store, the students gain valuable experience which fits them for future entry into the business world.

All is Quiet---Sometimes

Jon Norman states emphatically to R. Sabaska and R. Champion, "Sorry, you'll have to wait for the bell."

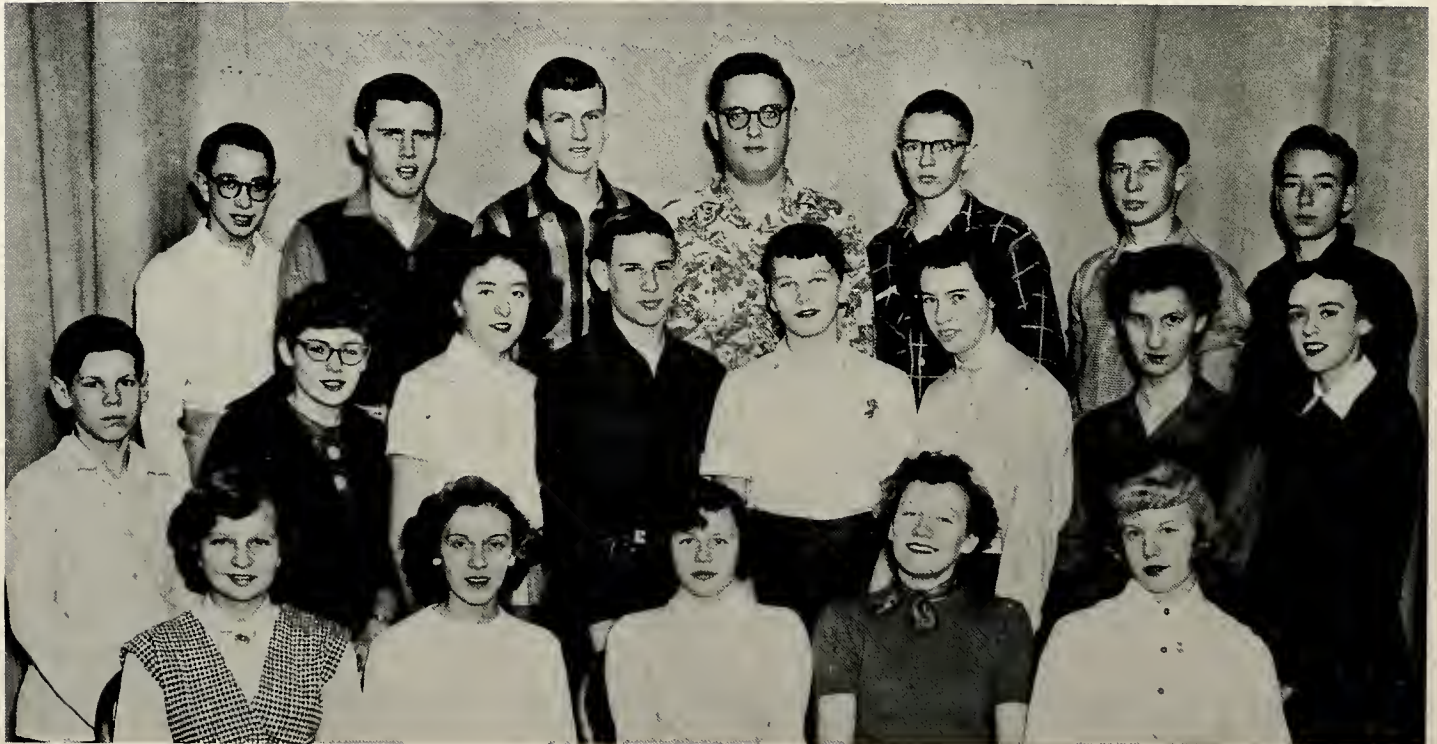

"Come down from there," cried the commanding voice of one of the 24 hall monitors whose duty is to control student traffic during the noon hour. They see that students eat their lunches and candy in the proper rooms and it's for them to see that all students stay out of the halls and upstairs where classes are in session.

Because these students in noon hour classes just can't concentrate if others are running around the halls, control must be maintained, and that is the job of all hall monitors. They are stationed at key posts throughout the school and remain there for two of the three lunch periods.

"His duties and responsibilities are many and therefore he must be dependable and a good worker," stated Miss King, hall monitor advisor.

Boosters are given to all monitors as a reward for their services, and if their duties are well performed, they will receive a '55 Kodak.

The student movie operators working under the supervision of Mr. Craemer offer a valuable service to the school through their film showings.

Working in their free periods and during home room, the projectionists learn to operate the machines, to splice film, and to service the projectors. Any time a teacher requires a movie for his course, a student takes over the mechanical portion of the task, leaving the instructor free to concentrate on the movie.

Through movies, the students and teachers are able to travel to many times and places, vastly increasing and enriching their courses.

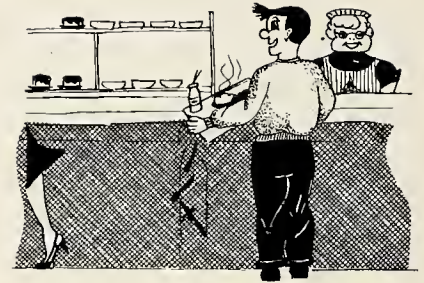

The show must go on! Dan Christianson and Bernie Wendt get ready for action.

Mrs. Hemmingstad, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Jarvis prepare dinner for their hungry patrons.

Cooking and serving are a part of the cooks' duties.

Soup's On

The cooks of ECHS have an interesting and busy job as they may be seen in the kitchen almost any time between 6 a. m. and 3 p. m preparing meals, cleaning up, and getting ready for the next day. The meals which they cook are not only served to high school students but also to city grade students. Under the supervision of Mrs. Rosentrator all the schools in the city except the Junior High School and the Sam Davy School are furnished with meals from these eight cooks.

The food used in the kitchen for a year would consist of tons of potatoes, spaghetti, cheese, along with gallons of milk and hundreds of loaves of bread, etc. To take care of such an enormous amount of food the cooks have to be reliable and willing to do a good job.

Cleaned Again

Clean floors, empty waste baskets, clean blackboards . . . . . these things don't just happen. Anyway they don't in ECHS.

A staff of six men and one woman, with mechanical, electrical and just plain janitorial abilities are employed full time to perform duties such as these.

A fitting title for these busy co-workers would be "sanitarians" since they are constantly at work sweeping, washing, scrubbing or some similar task.

Three custodians have the job of fireman and also do minor plumbing around school. An electrician is also on the staff and does most of the repairing that must be done in the school's electrical system.

Sweeping and shoveling the sidewalks also fall in the category of janitorial duties. Throughout the summer, a full staff of men are kept for window washing, painting, refinishing desks and other annual duties.

"Scraping gum from the chairs," stated Mr. Radtke, "is one of our worst jobs of the summer."

The stairs get a thorough sweeping by Mrs. Simcox as she substitutes for her mother, Mrs. Jennie Scharlau, who is absent because of a broken ankle.

Sports

In sports, our immediate ambition is to make the team. Once accomplished, our main interest lies in playing a fair game. This can be done by being considerate and following the rules. We must all, whether or not we play on a team, be participants in the "game of life." This game, like any other, has rules and regulations that must be followed if victory is to be attained. Therefore, the sports we play today teach us and prepare us for following directions in that all-important "game of life."

Prove Negative, the '54 Gridiron Season

Trophies for the two outstanding linemen of the Old Abes gridiron season were awarded to Doug LaPoint, who tallied the most tackles and Bob Engelbretson, who made the most blocks.

The trophy, which is a gold football with an engraved inscription, was presented at the annual ECHS football banquet.

Coach John Gallagher presented this award for the first time in 1952 and has presented it yearly since then.

The trophies originated as recognition for the unsung players of the football game, the steady forward wall without which any backfield would be lost.

Coaches John Gallagher and Cy Berg discuss some new strategy. Maybe we'll find out what it is next year!

Gives Valuable Experience in

Although the football season was far from par, from the game winning standpoint, the Abes gained valuable experience that should brighten the oncoming schedule considerably.

The Abes started a tough eight game schedule by battling St. Paul Central to a thrill packed 13-13 tie.

At the end of the first half, prospects were looking quite glum for the Eau Claire gridders, but the legendary Purple and White spirit still prevailed. The Abes started the second half trailing Central 13-0 until Whitey Johnson switched from tackle to fullback in the second half, to lead an Eau Claire comeback. Whitey caught two passes for the Abes, one to keep a touchdown drive going and another for the first TD. Runs by D. Bowlin, J. Rada and M. Johnson helped Eau Claire keep control of the ball throughout most of the second half.

M. Johnson and E. Brenn evade would-be-blockers, and team up for the tackle, while T. Weber races in from the secondary to get in on the action.

Next the Abes overpowered La Crosse Central and came out on the tall end of a 19-14 score to end their 13th consecutive game without a loss.

At this point the Old Abes met a rough and ready Stevens Point team that handed the Purple and White their first loss of the year. Fumbling five times, the Abes were held scoreless, gaining an unimpressive total of 40 yards, while Point gained 208 yards and scored 17 points, snapping the Abes undefeated string.

A game and hard fighting Regis team handed the Abes their fourth loss in the twelve year history of their annual intra-city clashes. Although the Abes tied the Ramblers in first downs, they couldn't function at essential moments and therefore held the shy end of a 13-0 score after the final whistle.

Fundamentals to a Future Varsity

Lots of action, but where is the ball?

The annual clash between the Abes and the Chippewa Falls Cardinals saw the Abes finally break their losing streak in one of the most exciting games of the year. Tied at 0-0 in the third quarter, the battling Abes fought their way to a first and 10 on the Cards' 9-yard line. But tough luck plagued the Abes once again and the next play saw Chippewa recover a Purple and White fumble, shattering the Abes only touchdown threat and ending the game nothing to nothing.

Taking advantage of three pass interceptions, Duluth Denfield presented the Abes with another loss and came out on top of a 13-6 score. The Abes only touchdown came in the second quarter as a conclusion to a 55 yard drive.

Traveling to Wisconsin Rapids the Abes lost a real tight one to Rapids in a 7-6 thriller that really kept the crowd on their toes.

Next the Abes suffered a 27-0 loss at the hands of the tough Wausau Lumberjacks, ending the Abes' gridiron season with a record of 1 win, 2 ties and 5 losses.

Prospects for the Abes' 1955 football team look exceedingly promising with 18 varsity players returning for next year's gridiron season.

The Eau Claire High School "B" squad will also contribute heavily to the oncoming Pigskin schedule. The "B" squad chalked up a remarkable record of 5 wins and 1 loss after facing a tough football schedule which developed some excellent varsity material.

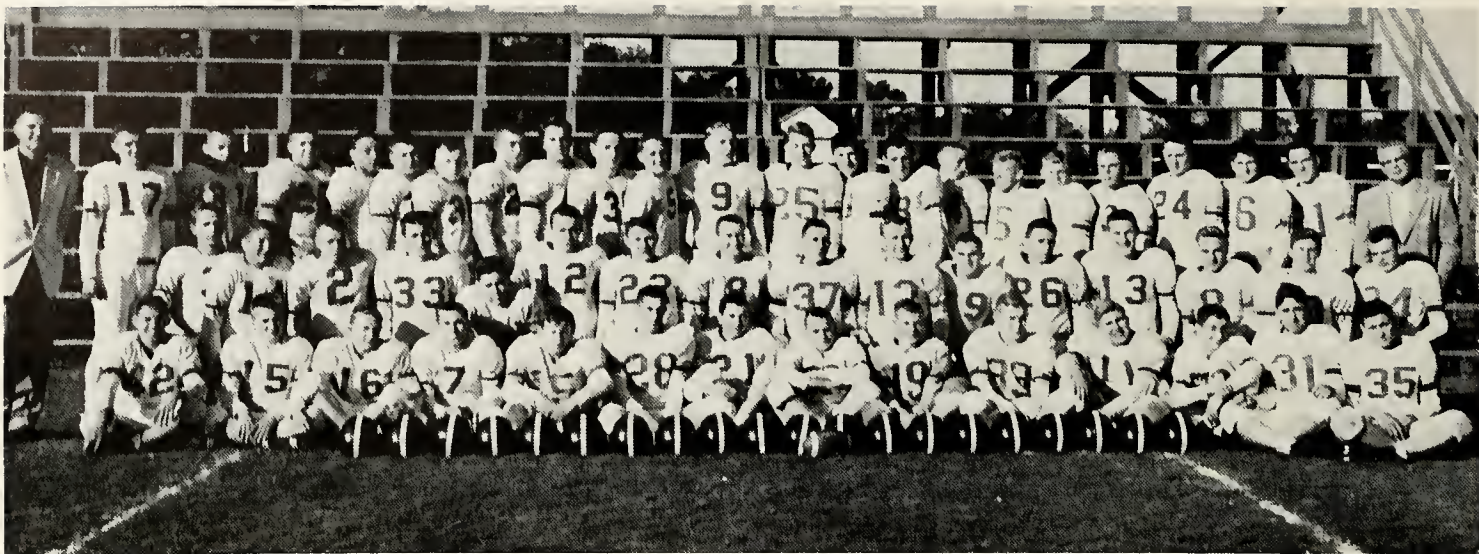

Head Coach J. Gallagher, is looking forward to a successful season in '55 and hopes that bad luck will not plague the oncoming varsity as often as it did in the past season.

B-Squad and Freshmen

"B" squad coaches Mr. Nelson and Mr. Poquette review some of the exciting moments in a very successful gridiron season.

The "B" squad had a very favorable season this year with 5 wins and 1 loss. Durand Varsity was the first opponent that the young Eagles, with a 19-0 victory, flew over. The next game was against Greenwood Varsity. The young fighting team of E. C. had to work together with excellent skill to edge Greenwood out 15-13. Traveling to La Crosse Central for a game with their "B" squad proved to be a testing ground. The Eaglets ran up a 25-0 score by the end of the game, yet many reserves saw plenty of action. Eleva-Strum was the next victim for the sailing Abes. The Purple and White turned back a well organized team with a 20-12 victory in the favor of the young Abes. Venturing down to Wausau, the Lumberjacks turned on all they had. The Bees held their charging line until the last few seconds of the game when a Lumberjack tore through for a touchdown and a point after. Regis was the last victim in the "54" season for the Bees. The final score turned out to be 12-7 in favor of the Young Eagles.

With John Haig and Norman Bussel displaying their fine coaching abilities, the ECHS Freshman football team completed a gratifying season. An enormous number of boys competed for starting berths on the Frosh team and under excellent coaching the young athletes soon began to shape up and work together like a well-oiled machine.

The rookie team took a real shellacking at the hands of their first opponent of the two game season when the Wausau Lumberjacks outscored them by a sizeable margin.

Between the first game and the second and last game, the Abes showed remarkable progress and overran the Regis Ramblers by a score of 19-0. Scrimmaging, pass defense and hard workouts on the tackling dummy developed the Frosh into a well organized, game winning team.

Mr. Bussell and Mr. Haig seem well pleased with the past season.

Hovey's Flobeys came through again for the title they captured last year. The team, made up entirely of seniors, fought its way through an undefeated season. Under the leadership of Rex Adams, the intramural season rolled along without any setbacks, except that of the weather. Throughout the Flobeys' schedule, their passing offense was the main ground gainer. Under the passing of Orrin Anderson, Don Partlow and Jon Wensel, the opposition was conquered with ease.

Great defensive play was done on the part of Matt Kopp, Tiffy Lystrup and Jon Qaust. George Wendt in the backfield and Dick Lorentz at center made the team complete. Their combined talents made a successful season for the first place Flobeys.

With excellent teamwork the Swedes rolled over the field with ease. The team was highly spirited and had a tremendous will to win. A battling spirit, hard running backs and a good forward wall also helped to bring the Swedes into the finals. The members of the team worked well under all conditions in all positions. The last game was all football and no holds barred. Some vicious charging and blocking made the game well worth the time to watch. During mid-season the Swedes lost a good running hallback Adolf Peterson.

Hard Fought, Impressive Season

EAU CLAIRE DUMPS ST. PAUL WASHINGTON

Bob Barneson copped scoring honors for the Eau Claire Old Abes in their first basketball game of the season with a total of 20 points.

After a slow first half the second half was just a bundle of buckets for the Old Abes and St. Paul Washington was outscored easily. Rifling in 10 straight points during a spurt in the third quarter, the Abes gained a substantial lead that was held until the final whistle stopped the game with a score of Eau Claire 58, St. Paul 44.

ST. PAUL JOHNSON OVERTHROWN BY EAU CLAIRE

The Old Abes downed St. Paul Johnson 73-35 in their second win of the season.

The Abes took an early lead and held it throughout the game. Whitey Johnson sank 25 points for the Abes to cop high point honors and set a fast clip for the Abes, while Bob Barneson was second with 14 points. The Abes shot a 60% clip and scored 30 of 50 shots, showing definite skill.

ABES SUFFER FIRST LOSS AT ST. LOUIS PARK

In the 7th game of their long schedule, the Old Abes tasted their first defeat from the hands of an able St. Louis Park quint.

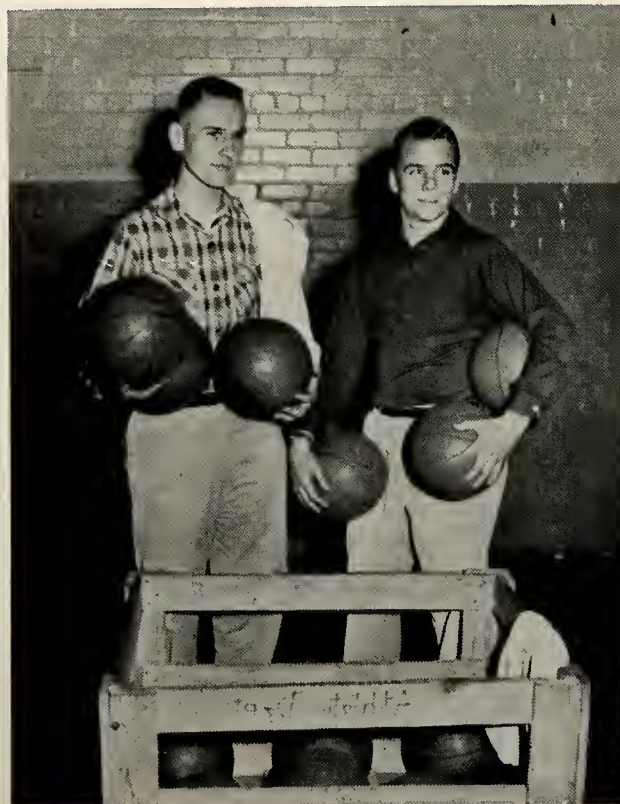

Bob Barneson and Jack Ralston capped high scoring honors for the Abes with 18 points apiece.

The rebounding of the tall Park team was disastrous for the Abes, as their lanky 6'7" center, Warren Jeppeson, and 6'6" Bob Campbell completely dominated the backboards.

George Oestreich and Hal Lindeke, managers, are really hawks when balls start flying.

Reserves Play Important Role

TOSA BOWS TO EAU CLAIRE

Tied at 30 all at the end of the first half, Eau Claire High's Old Abes pulled away from Wauwatosa in the second to come out on the long end of 62-50 score.

Bob Barneson sank eight field goals and six free throws, coping scoring honors for the Abes.

The score, nip and tuck through most of the game, was tied six times and the lead changed hands twelve times before the final whistle.

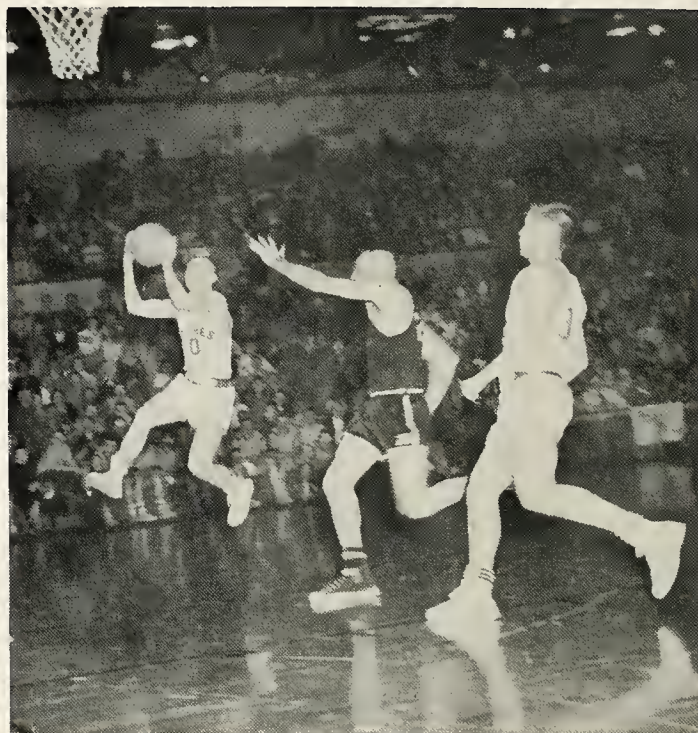

Roger Johnson and Bob Barneson sparked the game winning spurt in the third quarter and led the Abes to a substantial lead, retained for the rest of the game.

RAIDERS MOWED DOWN BY ABES

Eau Claire racked up two victories at the expense of La Crosse Central 61-46 and 53-38.

The top scorer for the Abes was Whitey Johnson with 40 points in the two games. Erv Seem pushed 14 points through, in the two teams first meeting, and Bob Barneson racked up a total of 18 points in the last game.

The Raiders tried to rally in the fourth quarter of the last game and cut the Abes lead down to 9 points five times, but the Abes whipped in a bucket each time Central threatened too hard.

If determination helps make baskets, chalk up two points for Jack Rada. John Raiston waits for an unlikely rebound.

Whitey Johnson eyes the hoop before scoring two more points for the Abes.

EAU CLAIRE OVERPOWERS REGIS

A very tight first half inspired the Old Abes to unleash a blazing 53 point drive in the second half to score a 74-43 win over the Regis Ramblers, in the thrilling first meeting.

Sparked by Whitey Johnson's 31 point scoring spree and brilliant all-around play the Abes shot at a cool 50% in the second half and gained complete control of the court. Johnson and Bob Barneson completely dominated the backboards for the Abes, grabbing 38 of the 54 rebounds taken by the Purple and White.

Later in the season both teams met again and Eau Claire picked up their 12th win, 83-40.

ABES CLIP WINGS OF CARDINALS

Playing a magnificent rebounding game, the Old Abes clipped the Chippewa Cardinals' wings with a 67-49 victory in their first meeting.

Whitey Johnson and Jon Wensel were high scorers for the Abes and teamed up to collect 38 rebounds, out jumping Chippewa's lanky 6' 5" center consistently.

The lead was whittled down to 18 points in the fourth quarter, after Bob Barneson was called out on fouls. The Abes buckled down and held a sizeable lead for the rest of the game.

In the Abes second meeting with the Cards the Abes jumped to a quick halftime lead of 46-19 and went on to win the game 76 to 45.

The Purple and White reserves did a very good job the second half of both games, while gaining valuable experience for the future.

and Gain Needed Experience

LUMBERJACKS FALL TO ABES

The Old Abes attained their 7th victory in 9 starts as they outshot the Wausaw Lumberjacks 86-54. Bob Barneson was the main attraction, for the Abes, dropping in 28 points.

Johnson was second high for the Abes with 20 points. The reserve squad saw plenty of action after the first quarter and ran out an easy win for Eau Claire.

In the second game with Wausaw, Eau Claire again came out victorious, 68-52.

RESERVES PLAY IMPORTANT ROLE IN VICTORY

With one regular sidelined because of injuries and another benched with four fouls, the Eau Claire reserves played an important role in copping a 64-45 win over Beaver Dam.

Poor shooting hampered the Abes scoring power severely, but by completely dominating the backboards, they held a fairly comfortable lead through most of the second half.

Bob Barneson held high scoring honors for the Abes with 15 points. Reserves Jon Wensel and Bob Woletz tallied 14 and 10 points respectively.

EAU CLAIRE DUBBED BY LOGAN

A desperate last minute bid for victory was too late as the Old Abes bowed to La Crosse Logan in their second loss of the season 50-48.

The Old Abe cagers fought hard throughout the game, but poor shooting and sloppy passing proved a set back.

Jack Rada nearly pulled the game out of the fire by stealing the ball and scoring with only seconds left in the game. A quick foul sent a Logan man to the gift line but the free throw went wild. Rada slipped the ball to Johnson, who scored a basket from mid-court a second too late.

JOHNSON HIGH IN EAU CLAIRE, TOMAH GAME

Captain Johnson dumped in 27 points to lead the Abes to a 70-55 triumph over the formidable Tomah quint.

The Novakmen spurted out in front with less than two minutes to go in the first quarter and never relinquished the lead. In addition to being top point man, Whitey grabbed 15 rebounds for the Eau Claire cagers.

With Bob Barneson sidelined through most of the game with an excess of fouls, substitute Jon Wensel was a big factor in the Purple and White victory, sinking 10 points.

WIS. RAPIDS OUTSCORES OLD ABES

A desperate last quarter rally enabled the Abes to tie the score at 55 all but the cagey Wisconsin Rapids quint kept a steady pace of accurate shooting to win the game at 61-55.

The Abes grabbed an early lead but trailed at the end of the first quarter. Trailing by 12 points at the half, the Abes fought back to tie the score at three different points, yet failed to regain the lead.

ABES FOUL HEAVILY BUT TRIUMPH OVER POINT

Drawing 32 fouls, their highest total of the year, the Old Abes still ran up a 76-54 win over the Stevens Point Panthers.

Whitey Johnson was high point man for the Abes with 24 points, followed by reserve Jon Wenzel who scored 15 points.

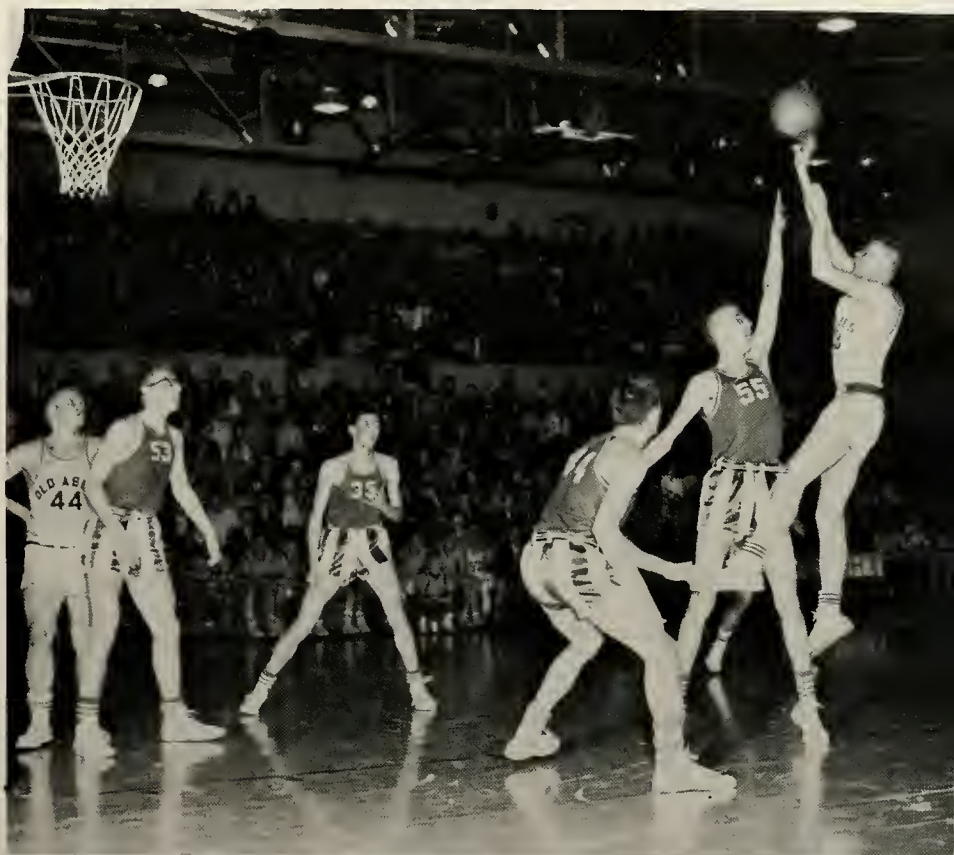

Three of the cagers, Ralston, Seem, and Anderson left the game early by the foul route. Johnson and Wenzel also spent time on the bench with an over-abundance of miscues early in the game.

Scoring Ace Bob Barneson spent most of the game on the sidelines because of a slight case of flu, but his understudy, Jon Wenzel, played a leading role in the victory.

Whitey (44) has confidence in Orrin Anderson's high jump shot.

The Old Abes closed their regular basketball schedule by dropping their second game of the season to La Crosse Logan in a bitterly fought 59-52 duel. The game was close, although Eau Claire once gained a seven point lead.

Latshaw, near the end of the game, held the ball for a minute and a half until Whitey fouled him. The inability of Johnson to score his usual close in shots and the illness of Barneson hurt the Abes badly.

Young Abes fly high with beginning Cardinals during a game.

The first game of the "B" squad schedule saw the Young Abes defeated by the Gilmanton Bees. A weak defense due to the short time in which to practice drained the Purple and White scoring power.

The Bees staged a comeback in their second game by trimming Elk Mound 46-40.

Greenwood was next to taste defeat from the hands of the Gallagher men in a close 41-40 battle. Then the Abes trampled the La Crosse Bees in an excellently played 73-40 ball game. A 49-33 score resulted when the Abes resumed battle against their intra-city rivals, Regis.

Chippewa was next to feel the sting of defeat at the hands of the Abes by a 63-39 score.

The second Abes' loss came at the hands of the La Crosse Bees. The Abes were out for revenge and racked up a 52-34 win over Wausau.

Return bouts with La Crosse and Wausau saw the Abes victorious twice more. Regis fell victim to the Young Abes again on January 28, but this time by a closer score of 34-30.

Next the Bees ran over Wisconsin Rapids by a score of 54-42.

In the Bee's last scheduled game La Crosse Logan went down under a 42-37 defeat to end a successful 14 game season.

Athletics - Big Factor in FFA

All that goes up must come down.

A tough season for the ECHS FFA basketball team has left them with a rather unimpressive record of three wins in their ten completed games.

In their first game the FFA cagers fell victim to Chippewa Falls with a score of 35-43. But on December 10 the FFA unit brought crushing defeat to an outplayed Fall Creek team and gained a 36-9 victory.

The Future Farmers slumped in the next four games and were beaten by the Dunn County Aggies 32-35, 35-38 by Chippewa Falls, 17-37 by Bloomer and 41-45 against Augusta.

The next game, with Fall Creek as their opponent, found the EC team victorious once again as they routed the opposition 45-49.

Next the Abes met the Dunn County Aggies and defeated them by a 20 point margin.

The last two games saw defeat for the FFA team with scores of 32-45 and 37-42 administered by Bloomer and Colfax respectively.

GAA - An Active Group

Boasting a 100 girl membership the newly formed GAA has had a very thrilling and successful season. The Girls' Athletic Association has entirely replaced Girls' Sports and is headed by an eight girl advisory board under the able supervision of Mrs. Porn, physical education teacher.

"Buy your Booster Pin now", was the enthusiastic cry of many an active GAA member as they backed their school and organization by selling basketball and football pins, both within the school and at local games played at the State College.

Meeting Monday afternoons from 4:00 until 5:00 in the gymnasium the girls participated in such tournaments as basketball, volleyball, bounceball, bowling, badminton, tennis and softball.

With only two years under high school leadership and already one state championship trophy, the Eau Claire High School ski teams have made an A plus record. This year's favorable weather permitted the Eau Claire skiers to compete for the first time in actual WIAA competition, and the hickory riders returned home with a first place trophy. The second team turned up with a third place berth, but because of WIAA regulations could not accept the trophy.

and Cops State Championship

Tiffy Lystrup and Don Mickelson were the two high men of the Eau Claire First team. After the meet Tiffy was notified that he had copped a third place among the high scorers for the day. Because skiing is becoming a more popular sport every year, the high school ski club has become very prominent among students of Eau Claire High School. Officers for the new club are: Tiffy Lystrup, president; Don Mickelson, vice-president; Fritzie Hermann, secretary and Karen Van Gorden, treasurer. The club meets and practices every Tuesday and Thursday at the Pinehurst Ski Bowl during the skiing season. The students are directed and advised by John Gallagher and Arnie Domer.

Instructor John Gallagher and team captains, John Grinsel and Herb Lystrup, admire their state championship trophy.

Tumbling and Give Perfect

Larry Vold displays great skill on the trampoline.

Muscles, co-ordination and an extreme sense of balance all contribute to the art of tumbling. Students of all sizes and ages cluster around the mats to learn the skill of twisting the body into unbelievable shapes. All activities during sixth and seventh periods are carefully watched by Mrs. Porn and Mr. Bussel.

Physical Education

Co-ordination

Most boys and girls agree that their favorite class during their freshman and sophomore years is gym. Playing basketball, volleyball, doing exercises and getting in good physical condition is always a very popular pastime.

Many boys and girls first learn how to swim during gym classes. Groups of students are taught the basic fundamentals of aquatic skills at the local YMCA. The dead man's float, high diving, and swimming like a fish are all a cinch after a YMCA swimming course.

Underclassmen

To us, upon entering high school, four years seems like a long time. Although we make tentative plans for after high school, our immediate goal is graduation. Of course, the activities and courses in which we partake have an influence in the shaping of our adult future, but our current reasons for choosing them are the bearing they will have on our all-important senior year. The interest and work we put into the various classes and organizations will determine our experience and dependability necessary for leadership and class honors.

Seniors

For us, the future has become a reality. This past year we have been preparing ourselves for the road that lies ahead. Having stepped across the threshold, we are on the starting line of the road of life. At times we regret having to leave a school whose memories are so dear, but, the anticipated adventure in our new phase of life outweighs these minor regrets.

ROLF A. AMBLI

October 23, 1936

August 14, 1954

Rolf was a member of our class for three years. He was quiet, unassuming and well liked by those fortunate to make his acquaintance.

A tragic illness caused his death during the summer following his junior year. Rolf was missed by classmates when they assembled in September to start their final year at Eau Claire High School.

Although his personal traits were missed, we really never lost his presence, because he has a twin brother, Roy, who personifies him in many respects.

Dear Reader:

"I never realized how much work goes into making an annual!"

"Now, after seeing all the work that was done, I'll appreciate the yearbook more." These were comments uttered by staff members as the work on the Kodak neared completion.

When school convened in September, Room 212 was the scene of early preparations. Much of the work done then is not evident in the finished copy, such as; choosing a theme, making page layouts, allotting the pages to each section and conducting a sales campaign. When looking for pictures of your friends, give credit to Carroll Jevne and Judy Repaal who carefully indexed all names.

Art gives variety to a yearbook. Sandy Erickson worked diligently for many hours to create the right effects on the division pages. Bobby Paulson and Bonnie Casper added spice through their clever cartoons. Hundreds of steps were taken and thousands of exposures made to obtain the pictures used, but Dick Gude and Jim Milward, along with the other photographers, were always ready with their equipment to take any picture needed. The familiar announcements were heard too . . . "Report to 311-A for a picture for the Kodak" . . . and Mr. Torgerson was ready to snap the camera. The Journalism and News Classes assisted with copy to bring you the story of the year effectively.

To teachers whose classes were interrupted and to the entire student body, we are truly grateful for helping us publish the 1955 Kodak.
